Victim of Identity Theft? Check out the FTC's website

<https://identitytheft.gov>

Millions of Americans have been victims of identity theft. And until now, there has not been a single site where they can quickly file an official complaint, and then get real, personalized help. On January 28, 2016, FTC made an announcement of their new web site, to assist victims of Identity Theft. The purpose of the site is to “allow consumers who are victims of identity theft to rapidly file a complaint with the FTC and then get a personalized guide to recovery that helps streamline many of the steps involved.”
