

My Two Cents Worth

By: Joseph Andalina

Creep or Crook

The Republicans win. I guess it was choose your poison time again. But the USA/Electoral College chose our new leader, Donald Trump. Congrats, Mr. President.

Let's consider, a long, long time ago, how the "process" began to give us the Trumpster.

The primaries featured on the Blue side:

- Crooked Hillary
- Crazy Bernie
- The other guy

The Red elephant saw these final caricatures:

- Creepy Donald, who loves his power, groping women, and money.
- No Energy Jeb
- Tubby Christie
- Lyin' Ted (aka Count Chocula)
- Little Marko
- Look at that face Fiorino
- Hucky-Bear
- The Brain Guy (the most honorable of all)
- Some dude named Kasich
- Some gal named Lindsey — no, guy — sorry
- Rand Paul (overlooked Libertarian like me!)
- Rick Santorum. Maybe next time
- Bobby "Why Not Me" Jindal
- Pataki "Why not Me Part II"
- Jim Gilmore. Who?

Then there was "What is Aleppo" and some gal named Jill. A basket of deplorables all, or people who just like to get run through the mill by entering politics?

Are they all bad hombres, or has everyone gone bat-shit crazy. Small hands, Chinese trade, or taco trucks on every corner? Thirty-three thousand deleted e-mails, or a guy who grabs women's privates? This is what politicians have given us now? Walls, what bathroom do you use, and persistent name calling?

And we yokels are forced to deal with this and vote for all of the final two disasters. Well, either way, we have spoken. Lord save us.

BUT THE CUBS WON!

Vita é bella